- 25X1 1. The Kobyle Pole airfield is 10 km northeast of Poznan (P 53/X 26), along the railroad line to Gniezno (P 53/X 68). It was occupied by the Soviet Air Force in 1945.
2. In early September 1950 the field was evacuated by the Soviets and is now used by Polish light aircraft. There were only a few temporary buildings at the field. *

25X1 [REDACTED] Comment. The Kobyle Pole airfield is reported for the first time. It is possibly an improvised airfield of minor importance which was constructed by the Soviets at the end of World War II.
